Are you interested in any Landscape Architecture field? □
Would you like to extend your knowledge on that issue? □
Would you like to increase your capacities to develop and share your research activity? □
Have you ever thought of doing a doctoral dissertation? □
If your answer is YES for some of these questions, the course MAR-E1006 Landscape Architecture & Research offers you the possibility to start your research career in a practical way. You just need to choose the subject and develop during the course a Research Plan, which could be a good end but also a good start for something else.
